

---

Contents

---

Acknowledgements	xi
Introduction: Antigone and the experience of legal judgment	1
1 A window on the normative world	21
1.1 Nomos: a normative world	22
1.2 The construction of norms	29
1.3 Mapping the social trajectories	34
1.4 The pathos of judgment	37
1.5 Judgment in tragedy and law	41
2 Antigone, Part I: Beginnings	47
2.1 Antigone and Ismene at the palace gates	47
2.2 Parodos: first entrance of the Chorus	53
2.3 Creon, new King of Thebes: inaugural speech	55
2.4 The guard enters the palace	58
2.5 First stasimon: Ode on Man	59
2.6 Antigone and Creon: the clash of nomoi	61
3 Incommensurability and judgment	69
3.1 Berlin and the incommensurable clash of ends	71
3.2 Raz and the constitutive incommensurability of social practices	74
3.3 Wiggins: tragic dilemmas and forms of life	77
3.4 Lyotard's differend and the incommensurability of judgment	79
3.5 Rancière's disagreement and the staging of the conflict	82
3.6 Incommensurability, Antigone, and law	86

4	Antigone, Part II: Transitions	91
4.1	Ismene comes forward	91
4.2	Second stasimon: disaster returns again	93
4.3	Haemon: son and groom	96
4.4	Third stasimon: the power of Eros	99
4.5	Antigone's farewell march	101
4.6	Fourth stasimon: besieged as others	106
5	Acts of reading, acts of judgment	110
5.1	The challenge of Plato	112
5.2	The truth of tragedy: vindicating the tragic experience	119
5.3	The power of emotions: "education sentimentale"	124
5.4	A good judge or judging well?	128
5.5	Six spaces of judgment	129
5.6	The tragic audience and the judge	137
6	Antigone, Part III: Realizations	141
6.1	Teiresias: seer and counselor	141
6.2	Fifth stasimon: Dionysus, the Chorus Master	150
6.3	Tragic news	152
6.4	Final laments	156
7	The temporalities of judgment: Antigone and law	160
7.1	The originality of Antigone	160
7.2	The genealogy of Antigone's law	166
7.3	The law of the Antigone and the experiences of the audience	173
7.4	The narrative configuration of time: the temporalities of judgment	176
7.5	The experience of judging tragic conflicts: hard cases, anew	187
	Appendix	193
	Notes	197
	Works cited	235
	Index	249